FROM THE PASTOR'S DESK:

Last week we talked about how the evangelists did not write the Gospel accounts until many years after the events took place. You may wonder why the early Christians didn't immediately record what Jesus said and did. The answer to this question is pretty simple.

The early Christians expected Jesus to return to the earth within their lifetime so that he could defeat all evil, conquer the world, and then fill the world with peace and justice. This second coming of Jesus (also known as the parousia) would signal the beginning of the reign of God at the end of the world.

Believing that the end of the world was near, the early Christians didn't consider it necessary to write down what Jesus said and did. They expected the apostles and those who knew Jesus to live until he returned, which would insure that Jesus' teachings did not get distorted.

When the world did not end as soon as expected, the followers of Jesus feared that all of the eyewitnesses would be dead before he returned and there would be no one left to guarantee the accuracy of the stories about him. So they decided to write down Jesus' words and teachings so that future generations of Christians would have a reliable account.

Let's take a look at the parables in today's Gospel. In the first parable, a man sells all he has so that he can buy a field containing a buried treasure. In the second parable, the merchant sells all he has so he can buy a valuable pearl. The treasure and the pearl stand for the reign of God. Just as both the man and the merchant gave up everything when they found what they wanted, Jesus encourages us to be willing to give up everything for the sake of the reign of God.

That's exactly what the early Christians did. Some of them suffered persecution and some of them even died for their faith in Jesus. Recalling these parables gave them the courage they needed to give up all they had, even their lives, for the growth of the reign of God.

How much are we willing to give for something depends on how valuable it is to us. How much would we be willing to sacrifice for the reign of God?

The School of Pastoral Ministry forms adults to be a "missionary disciples," inspired and equipped to bring the Good News of Jesus Christ to their families, parishes, and the wider world. The Diocese of Oakland is now accepting applications for Fall 2017. Classes begin August 12, and applications are due August 11. This is the same program that Dionne Cola, Julie Hadnot and Deacon Ron Tutson completed. Register online at oakdiocese.org/spm or contact Sandra Martinez at the Diocese at (510) 267-8371 or smartinez@oakdiocese.org

In my hopes of keeping you informed about my comings and goings, I will be away from the parish from Monday, August 7th to Friday, August 25. I have to be at a funeral in Honolulu on Tuesday, August 8, a 50th wedding anniversary on Sunday, August 13, a vigil and a funeral on August 14 and 15, all in Honolulu. I will remain at St. Augustine by-the-Sea parish on Waikiki Beach in Honolulu until Friday August 25, spending time with my sisters and brothers and other family located on O'ahu, as well as helping out in the parish.

I received a phone call from Father Ken Hamilton, SVD and he informed me that fellow SVD priest, Fr. Aris Martin, is relocating to the East Bay and has been accepted into the doctoral program at the Graduate Theological Union in Berkeley. Fr. Ken asked if we had room here at St. Benedict to take Fr. Aris as he begins and completes his studies. I met with Fr. Aris and find him to be a very friendly and intelligent person whose presence will be an asset here. Fr. Aris will be joining us on August 15th. Fr. Vassar will continue his active ministry in our parish.

God bless,
Fr. Jayson

Please pray for:
